

Loon Mountain Resort and Partners Announce Installation of New Gondola

Enclosed cabins to transport guests between South Peak Resort at Loon Mountain and nearby RiverWalk Resort.

Today, Loon Mountain Resort, in partnership with RiverWalk Resort and South Peak Resort, announced the upcoming installation of a new gondola lift. Installation of the new lift is scheduled to begin in spring 2025 which will connect RiverWalk with the base of Loon's newly-expanded South Peak terrain—and nearby Timbertown Quad chairlift. The lift is projected to open during the 2025/26 winter season.

“Providing more convenient access for guests is something we continue to focus on. This lift has been long dreamt of and would not be possible without collaboration with RiverWalk and South Peak resorts.” says Brian Norton, Loon Mountain Resort's president and general manager.

Designed by Doppelmayr, the lift will cover nearly 1300 feet in total distance and feature twelve (12) of its Omega IV cabins. The fully enclosed cabins will transport riders both east and west, over the Pemigewasset River, and feature floor-to-ceiling windows for scenic views in every season. The west lift terminal will be on the grounds of RiverWalk, and the east terminal will be located in Escape Route Parking Lot B.

RiverWalk Resort is located in downtown Lincoln, NH and is nearing completion of a major expansion with a suite of amenities including an on-site winery, a spa and more. Providing car-free access to and from the mountain will be another unique attraction for visitors. “Extraordinary indeed,” commented Dennis Ducharme, (TITLE). “This lift is essential to completing the vision for RiverWalk.”

Gateway Gondola will be a centerpiece for South Peak Resort also. The company is building on a long-term vision to develop a resort village at the base of South Peak offering shopping, dining, entertainment and more. “This is a keystone project for us. Partnering with Loon and RiverWalk on this lift demonstrates our collective commitment to expand the offerings in this great town of Lincoln.” Mark Bogosian, (TITLE).

Further details around guest access and ridership will be announced as the project nears completion.
